1. Introduction

1.1 Background

The History of the Department of Finance: 1922 - 1958 by the late Professor Ronan Fanning, is regarded as the seminal history of an Irish Government Department and was published by the Institute of Public Administration (IPA) in 1978. The work is currently out of print.

The Department of Finance wishes to commission a new history of the Department covering the years 1959-1999. This book would be a companion piece to Professor Fanning's original history. The Department considers it an appropriate time to commission an updated history of the Department given that both the state and the Department will celebrate their 100th anniversary in 2022. It is planned that the second volume will be published in this centenary year (publisher to be confirmed).

The Irish Research Council has entered into a partnership with the Department of Finance in respect of this project. On behalf of the Department, the Council will oversee a competitive process for the award of this fellowship to an experienced researcher to undertake the completion of the second history volume of the Department, for publication. The Fellowship will be funded by the Department of Finance. This Call Document provides information to potential applicants who are considering applying for this Fellowship.

The award will be an excellent opportunity for a researcher to undertake the completion of a written work that will chart the second phase of development of a Department at the centre of Ireland's economic development and modernisation, including in relation to our role within Europe. The work has the potential to have a particular profile as its completion will align with the centenary of the Department itself.

The Call for the Department of Finance History Fellowship is governed by the Terms and Conditions in this document and the Award Acceptance Form. The contents of this document are for general information purposes and the assistance of applicants.

The Council reserves the right to revise this Call Document.

1.2 Conflict of Interest

The Irish Research Council is committed to implementation of all its calls in an open and transparent manner. In this regard, applicants are required to indicate whether they are aware of any potential material conflict of interest. Failure to disclose a material conflict of interest may disqualify an applicant or result in the termination of a compensation for losses incurred.

1.3 Criteria for call

Applications for this award will be evaluated by an Assessment Board, appointed by the Council, following which a recommendation will be made to the Department of Finance. The Assessment Board will use only the information provided in the application form and accompanying requested materials. The Fellowship will be awarded on the basis of the following criteria:

2. About the Irish Research Council

Established in mid-2012 under the Government's Public Sector Reform Plan, the Irish Research Council, a merger of two former councils (the Irish Research Council for Humanities and Social Sciences, IRCHSS, and the Irish Research Council for Science, Engineering and Technology, IRCSET), is an associated agency of the Department of Education and Skills (DES) and operates under the aegis of the Higher Education Authority (HEA).

The mission of the Irish Research Council is to enable and sustain a vibrant research community in Ireland. It seeks to enrich the pool of knowledge and expertise available and accessible for addressing Ireland's current and future needs, whether societal, cultural or economic, by funding excellent research and researchers. The Council has a strategic objective to partner and collaborate with societal stakeholders, including enterprise, government and civic society, so as to address their needs.

The Council assists a diverse range of partner Department and agencies to meet their research objectives, mainly through including partner research topics within policy-orientated research programmes, the most recent being COALESCE (Collaborative Alliances for Societal Challenges). The Council has also run standalone calls, a recent example being a research project commissioned by the Secretariat to the Citizens' Assembly.

3. Summary of Requirements and Resources

3.1 Duration

The fellowship will be tenable for three years from 29 April 2019. It would be expected that the final draft text of the work is submitted within approximately 2 ½ years to allow for review and final editing by the fellow.

3.2 Minimum candidate criteria

The candidate will:

- Have a PhD in a relevant topic together with a minimum of two years' full-time postdoctoral research experience;
- Have a background, track record and knowledge of contemporary Irish history, government and political matters;
- Maintain their principal residence in the Republic of Ireland during the fellowship;
- Maintain an actual presence within their respective department throughout their fellowship and reside within a reasonable travelling distance of the HEI/RPO;
- Satisfy the State's regulations on immigration if not a national of a European Union member state, Iceland, Norway, Liechtenstein or Switzerland. Arrangements with respect to immigration will be a matter for settlement between the awardee, their HEI and the relevant immigration authorities of the State;
- Have expertise and experience in comparable research of this kind;
- Possess a strong track record of working in collaboration with stakeholders, to include those outside academia.

In line with Irish Research Council standard practice, the award will be made through an Irish Higher Education Institution or Independent Research Institute eligible for the receipt of research funding. Irish Research Council research funding rules will apply, unless otherwise agreed.

Consideration can be given to awarding the Fellowship to a researcher who has other commitments and/or who already holds an academic position in a research-performing organisation that is eligible for Council funding. Candidates in this position would have to demonstrate clearly in their application that they could devote the minimum required time to this project. Sub-contracting of work is not permissible under this award.

Where the applicant already holds a contract of employment, temporary or permanent, in a research-performing institution eligible for Council funding, the applicant may propose the allocation of funds from the Fellowship salary award to buy out the teaching time of the applicant, if successful, in order to facilitate the implementation of this project.

3.3 Budget

The maximum award value per annum is outlined below.

The salary award is benchmarked to the Irish Universities Association salary scale at the Research Fellow grade. This grade commands a salary of €53,776 (Point 1) per annum wholetime as at 1.10.2018.

3.6 Support from the Department

The Department of Finance is committed to ensuring that all reasonable research resources are made available to the Fellow over the duration of the Fellowship. In addition to information relevant to the history of the Department over the period 1959-1999 in the public domain and in existing collection/archives, the Department will assist the Fellow in accessing other relevant documents, and in facilitating access to individuals in the Department or relevant to the work of the Department, pertaining to the period in question.

3.7 Grant Administration, Reporting Requirements/Outputs, Advisory Structure and Dissemination

3.7.1 Grant Administration

Awards under this Scheme are subject to receipt of funding by the Irish Research Council from the Department of Finance. In the event of such funding being reduced or discontinued, neither the Department of Finance nor the Irish Research Council will be under any liability to provide funding or to compensate the Research Leader or their host institution for any reduction or cessation of such funding.

Should the appointed Fellow be unable for any reason (including medical reasons) to carry out the project in accordance with the requirements, he/she must inform the Director of the Irish Research Council within two weeks of such a situation coming to his/her attention. In such situations, the Irish Research Council will have regard to the usual conventions of the host institution. However, given the basis on which awards are made, the Irish Research Council reserves the right to withdraw funding support.

The Irish Research Council recognises that for personal or professional reasons, a Fellow may wish to terminate his/her award early. This should not be done without prior consultation with the Irish Research Council as it may involve reimbursement by the host institution to the Irish Research Council if the use of the funding made available up to the date of termination cannot be justified in accordance with the project's stated objectives.

3.7.2 Reporting Requirements, Outputs and Termination

Funding over the duration of the Fellowship will be dependent on outputs (i.e. content for the history volume) being drafted and completed in a phased manner, along with project reports. It is the responsibility of the Fellow to ensure that outputs and reports are filed by the due dates.

Applicants should set out how they propose to phase the completion of outputs over the initial 30 month period of the Fellowship (final 6 months for review and editing). The final structure in this regard will be agreed between the parties at the award offer stage.

Six-monthly project reports will be required by the Irish Research Council; in addition, a final project report after the completion of the project will be required.

Failure to meet project deliverables by the required dates or submission of an unsatisfactory report may, following consultation with the Department of Finance, result in the Irish Research Council terminating the award. Where the award is cancelled, Irish Research Council reserves the right to seek recovery of monies which have been awarded under this Scheme. The funds may be reclaimed on a pro-rata basis. The award may be subject to an external research audit and/or financial audit.

The Council reserves the right to terminate awards where necessary and without prejudice.

3.7.3 Advisory Structure

Two elements are proposed to form an advisory framework to assist the Fellow in their research and drafting. Firstly, a small advisory group will be in place over the duration of the fellowship, comprising current or former officials from the Department of Finance and/or experts nominated by the Department. It is envisaged that this group would meet every six months.

In addition, the Department will nominate an independent expert to review outputs and chapters of the volume and provide periodic support for the Fellow over the duration of the award.

Applicants may draw on suitably qualified person(s) to provide academic/peer support at institutional level during the Fellowship. Details of such proposed arrangements, including the name, position and expertise of any such person(s) should be set out in the application form.

3.7.4 Dissemination

Dissemination will be via publication of the volume, which will be after the completion of the award. An annual public lecture during the course of the fellowship will be considered. The Fellow will also be invited to present key aspects of the volume to the Department management team at an appropriate time.

4.6 Freedom of Information Act

The Irish Research Council endeavours to hold confidential any information provided by any firm in response to this award is subject to its obligations under law, including the Freedom of Information Act, which became applicable to the Irish Research Council in October 2001. Please note that, in response to a request under the Freedom of Information Act, information not identified as sensitive (with supporting reasons) could be released. You should accordingly identify in your proposal any specific information which you do not wish to disclose specifying the reasons why such information is sensitive. The Irish Research Council will consult you about this sensitive information in the event of it being subject to a request under the Freedom of Information Act.
